

Not the Marrying Kind

Christina Cole

Kat Phillips is not the marrying kind. She can't cook, keep house, or sew a stitch. When her father takes sick and decides to sell the Rocking P ranch, Kat must either follow his wishes and marry the lackluster minister in town or find a husband for herself. Joshua Barron comes to the Colorado Territory to make a new start. Nothing means more to him than freedom. He arrives at the cabin where he'll be staying with his reclusive, crazy-as-a-coot cousin, and realizes Cody desperately needs a wife. His thoughts go at once to the long-legged redhead he met in the foothills. When Kat realizes the handsome stranger is looking for a wife, she's determined to prove she's got all the skills required to please a man...even if she has to lie to do it. She has no idea that Joshua is involved in a few lies of his own.
