

Now You Do it: Paper Play

Ruth Thomson, Illustrated by Peter Millard

Aiming to encourage young children to develop their imagination and artistic skills, this craft book suggests a wide range of things which can be made with just a piece of paper, a pencil and a pair of scissors. Some of the projects draw on traditional skills from different countries and others are based on more original and unusual ideas. The projects include papercuts, greetings cards with holes, folds and cut-out decorations, paper collage, Christmas decorations and gift tags, silhouettes and shadow puppets. The author won the 1988 Times Educational Supplement Junior Information Book Award.
